Kyle Freeman, a member of the firm's Board of Directors, concentrates his practice in the Corporate/Commercial/Transactional area. Within his practice he has led negotiations for the drafting of: energy related agreements, primarily oil and gas midstream transactions for both oil and gas producers and midstream clients; multi-million dollar software licensing, development, services and hosting agreements; multi-million dollar asset and equity acquisitions; numerous commercial leases and related real property agreements.

Kyle's extensive midstream contracts experience includes the negotiation and drafting of the following:

- Natural gas gathering and processing agreements
- NAESB agreements and special provisions
- Purchase and sale agreements for crude oil, natural gas, natural gas liquids (NGLs) and condensate
- Crude oil transportation and gathering agreements
- Storage agreements
- Exchange agreements
- Pipeline connection agreements
- Easement and right-of-way agreements for pipelines and related facilities
- Surface site leases

In addition, Kyle has worked on midstream contracts related to production and midstream assets in numerous areas throughout the United States, including:

- Anadarko Basin (STACK and SCOOP) in Oklahoma
- Permian and Delaware Basins in Texas and New Mexico
- Eagle Ford Shale in Texas

- Bakken Formation in North Dakota
- Powder River Basin in Wyoming
- Piceance Basin in Colorado
- Fayetteville Shale in Arkansas
- Marcellus Shale and Utica Shale in West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Ohio

Further, Kyle has vast experience negotiating and drafting software and information technology (IT) related contracts, including:

- Traditional on-premises software license, maintenance and support agreements
- Software as a service (SaaS) agreements
- Subscription agreements
- Software hosting agreements
- Service level agreements
- Master services agreements and related statements of work

Further, Kyle has a breadth of experience with software and IT agreements ranging from multi-million dollar projects for large corporate clients to projects costing thousands of dollars for smaller sized companies. He has negotiated these contracts for various sized vendors, including Fortune 500 companies, throughout the United States, Canada and Europe.
