Taylor Wewers Bagby is an associate in Hall Estill's litigation practice, where she assists clients in navigating complex litigation matters in state and federal courts. Her practice focuses on commercial litigation, insurance coverage disputes, and tort defense, with experience in a broad range of civil litigation matters.

Taylor works closely with clients to develop effective legal strategies, address complicated legal issues, and pursue favorable outcomes. She is involved in all phases of litigation, and her approach emphasizes thorough preparation, persuasive advocacy, and practical solutions tailored to each client's objectives.

Before joining Hall Estill, Taylor gained valuable experience in the federal judicial system, serving as a judicial intern for the Honorable Claire V. Eagan in the United States District Court for the Northern District of Oklahoma and as an extern with the United States Attorney's Office for the Northern District of Indiana. She also served as a John Paul Hammerschmidt Research Fellow in the United States House of Representatives.

Taylor earned her Juris Doctor from Notre Dame Law School and graduated magna cum laude from the University of Arkansas–Fort Smith with a Bachelor of Business Administration in International Business.
