Hall Estill Welcomes New Shareholders to Oklahoma City Office

July 27, 2026

Hall Estill, Oklahoma's leading law firm, is proud to announce three new shareholders have joined its Oklahoma City office. With offices in Oklahoma City, Tulsa, Denver and Northwest Arkansas, Hall Estill remains committed to legal excellence and delivering client-focused solutions. These additions enhance the firm's depth of experience in healthcare and litigation matters while establishing new practice capabilities in dental defense and correctional healthcare.

"These attorneys have distinguished themselves throughout their careers providing exceptional advocacy and dedication to their clients," said Steve Ray, Managing Partner at Hall Estill. "We are proud to welcome them as shareholders and look forward to their contributions to the firm."

The Oklahoma City office welcomes new shareholders:

Alexandra "Allie" Ah Loy focuses her practice on healthcare law, correctional healthcare, medical malpractice, civil rights law, professional board defense, dental law, employment law, AI safety and governance, general liability, appellate law, construction, premises liability, auto and transportation, and subrogation law. She is licensed in Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas, and federal courts across the Midwest, South-Central, and Plains regions of the United States. She serves as national defense counsel for multiple correctional healthcare companies and is a Certified Correctional Healthcare Professional through the National Commission on Correctional Health Care (NCCHC). She also serves her local community as President of the Board of Directors for Legal Aid Services of Oklahoma.

Chance Holland is a trial lawyer who represents healthcare professionals and organizations and attorneys in professional liability claims brought by their former patients and clients, as well as businesses in general negligence and premises liability cases. He recently obtained a defense verdict for his client at a federal court jury trial in a case arising from the death of a detainee in a county jail. Chance practices in all Oklahoma state and federal courts, and also handles cases in Arkansas, Colorado, New Mexico, and Texas federal court.

Christina Wolfram concentrates her practice on medical malpractice, dental defense and other complex professional liability matters. In practice since 2007, she represents large healthcare companies, rural hospitals, physician-owned clinics and healthcare providers in litigation around the State of Oklahoma.
