Katelin Edwards is an associate who focuses her practice mainly on transactional work, supporting the firm's attorneys in various practice areas, including real estate, corporate and business services, financial institutions and alternative/renewable energy. Prior to joining Hall Estill, she worked at a boutique real estate law firm in downtown Denver, drafting and negotiating leases, purchase and sale agreements and conducted comprehensive title and survey due diligence.

A Denver native, Katelin earned her J.D. from the University of Denver Sturm College of Law, where she earned a certificate in Corporate and Commercial Law. While in law school, she received the Bruce B. Johnson Memorial Scholarship in recognition of her academic excellence and commitment to transactional and real estate law and was a member in the Low-Income Taxpayer Clinic and the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance program, where she gained experience in tax law and client advocacy. Prior to graduating law school, Katelin was a Summer Associate at Hall Estill, where she was not only introduced to the wonderful team at the firm, but grew her understanding of relentless client representation.

Katelin graduated from the University of Colorado at Boulder in 2017, where she majored in business and minored in political science Prior to attending law school, Katelin worked for various Colorado companies, working in community outreach, regulatory research and government relations.
