

Complex Commercial Issues

Representing companies ranging from start-ups to members of the Fortune 100, we have experience in handling all types of general corporate and commercial disputes regarding highly detailed business transactions – from large class actions to securities litigation and those matters involving electronic discovery – we have the knowledge and expertise to handle almost any matter.