

Environmental Permitting

Hall Estill Environmental attorneys represent myriad types of organizations with environmental permitting, from start-ups and Fortune 500 companies, to municipalities and state authorities. We assist clients in obtaining environmental approvals, as well as incorporate newer goals such as climate and other ESG objectives. Areas of our experience include:

- Siting and permitting energy, infrastructure, institutional, commercial and other complex facilities at the local, state and federal level
- Performing environmental due diligence to support transactions, including structuring deals to help minimize risk, and procuring environmental insurance
- Advising clients on setting and obtaining climate goals, including zero-carbon emissions plans, resiliency efforts and other sustainability and ESG objectives
