

Local Counsel Opinions

For many transactions, a legal opinion is required before a matter can be settled. Providing an additional layer of assurance to a client, Hall Estill attorneys in this practiced are well-versed in writing legal opinions and do so on a weekly basis.

Working as part of your team, our attorneys are able to provide guidance regarding the legal effect of a transaction/matter, as well as identify any legal risks a client should consider further or evaluate before moving on to the next phase of a matter.
