

Hall Estill Welcomes Associates Carr, Glass, Stevens and Kistler to Offices in Tulsa and Oklahoma City

October 5, 2016

Hall Estill, Oklahoma's leading law firm, announced the addition of Cassia C. Carr, Ruth E. Stevens and Carson K. Glass as associates to the firm's Tulsa office, as well as Lindsay N. Kistler to the firm's Oklahoma City office.

"We are very pleased with our recent associate hires," said Mike Cooke, managing partner for Hall Estill. "Cassia, Ruth, Carson and Lindsay each come from very different backgrounds, yet the common thread is their remarkable talent as young attorneys."

Lindsay N. Kistler, who will be working on Hall Estill's Oklahoma City litigation team, graduated from the University of Oklahoma College of Law in 2016, with honors. While in law school, she served as Editor-in-Chief for the Oklahoma Law Review and received the Outstanding 3L Award from the Oklahoma Bar Association. Kistler received her bachelor's in Political Science from the University of Oklahoma in 2012.

Ruth "Ruthie" E. Stevens joins Hall Estill's Tulsa office, where she will primarily practice in the firm's Corporate/Commercial law practice area. Stevens graduated from University of Oklahoma College of Law, with highest honors, in 2016 and also graduated summa cum laude in 2013 from the University of Oklahoma with her bachelor's in Political Science. While in law school, Stevens was named the Ruby Vale Corporate Law Moot Court National Champion in 2015 and served as assistant articles editor for the Oklahoma Law Review.

Cassia C. Carr will serve as part of Hall Estill's litigation practice in its Tulsa office. Prior to joining Hall Estill, Carr served as editor of the Tulsa Law Review and president of the Women's Law Caucus at the University of Tulsa College of Law. In addition to earning her J.D., with honors, Carr also graduated summa cum laude from Oral Roberts University with a bachelor's in International Business and Spanish.

Carson K. Glass, who will practice in the litigation area, joined Hall Estill's Tulsa office after graduating from the University of Texas School of Law in 2016. While in law school she served as Symposium Associate for the Texas Journal of Oil, Gas & Energy. Glass also graduated magna cum laude from University of South Carolina with a bachelor's in Finance and International Business.
